

Mac's Monthly Advice

March is here and so is your little buddy, Mac, with some money saving tips to help you get ready for the arrival of Spring!

Review discretionary spending

Take a few minutes to review your bills. Once you review your bills, you may identify areas of overspending or impulse buying. You may be surprised at how quickly those dollars add up.

Dine-in at home

Eating out several meals each week can be costly, but with good planning, you don't have to sacrifice nutrition to save money.

Maintenance is a must

From your home to your health, maintenance can get more out of just about anything in life. To save money around your home: clean your dryer's lint trap after each use, replace your heating/air-conditioning filters monthly, and use a programmable thermostat. You can also save money by taking good care of yourself. Regular checkups with your doctor can help you maintain a healthier life and prevent costly medical issues down the road.
