

Mac's Monthly Advice!

Mac here, getting ready to celebrate our country's 240th birthday
(or 973rd birthday, if you're counting in dog years)

It's incredible that we get to live in a beautiful country, with so many individual freedoms and such diverse cultures. Some places in this world (even now in 2016) still restrict the rights of people and puppies, from where they can work to what they can wear to what they can eat. I am grateful that I get to live in America, and I hope you all are as proud to be American as I am. Three woofs for the USA!!

Woof! Woof! Woof!

To accompany your hot dog on this 4th of July, chew on these facts:

The Declaration of Independence began as a letter to King George to explain why the Continental Congress voted to declare independence from Great Britain.

July 4th was declared an official holiday in 1870 nearly one hundred years after the Declaration of Independence was first written.

Three presidents died on July 4th, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, and James Monroe and President Calvin Coolidge was born on July 4th.
