

Mac's Monthly Advice!

Mac here again, with some fun facts about all the excitement that's happening in the month of May!

May 5th - Cinco De Mayo Viva la Marketing!: Contrary to popular belief, it does not celebrate Mexican independence (September 16). Cinco de Mayo was not as widely celebrated in the United States until the 1980's, when beer companies marketed the celebratory nature of the holiday as an excuse to sell more product.

May 8th - Mother's Day brought to you by a Daughter: Anna Jarvis was a woman that many have credited for being behind our traditional Mother's Day. Anna never had any children, but wanted to carry out her own mother's wishes of having a day just for moms. On May 8th, 1914 President Woodrow Wilson signed a Joint Resolution designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

May 30th - Memorial Day How many Hot Dogs??: As we take this day to remember all who sacrificed their lives while serving in our country's armed forces, this holiday has become linked with an anomaly of human consumption. At last year's annual Nathan's Hot Dog Eating Contest, Matt Stonie finally ended the 8-year run of contest legend Joey Chestnut by eating 62 hot dogs in only 10 minutes.
